

Privacy Policy

1. Our commitment to protecting your privacy.

- 1.1. Uniting (Victoria and Tasmania) Limited ("we", "us", "our") recognise the importance of protecting the privacy and the rights of individuals in relation to their personal information. Our values of 'respect' and 'compassion' underpin our work with consumers and stakeholders and the handling of the information they give us.
- 1.2. This document is our privacy policy and it tells you how we collect and manage your personal information, including information collected from our website, through our representatives or otherwise, as part of the carrying out of operations, activities and the provision of services. Our privacy policy will be made available via multiple channels, including on our website. The privacy policy has been written for Uniting's stakeholders, with relevant sections tailored to suit four key audience groups (sections 3 to 6), each with a supporting privacy statement:
 - 1.2.1. Service Users: consumers (including clients and their carers).
 - 1.2.2. Donors and Supporters: individuals and organisations that support the work of Uniting through financial and in-kind support.
 - 1.2.3. Customers: individuals who purchase from Uniting, including opportunity shops and hospitality enterprises.
 - 1.2.4. Volunteers: individuals who donate time willingly for the common good and without financial gain.
- 1.3. We respect your rights to privacy under the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth), Privacy Data and Protection Act 2014 (Vic), Health Records Act 2001 (Vic) and Personal Information Protection Act 2004 (Tas) ("the privacy laws") and we are committed to the requirements in respect of the collection, management and disclosure of your personal information under the privacy laws.
- 1.4. Employee files are exempt from the privacy laws for information that is directly related to the employment relationship however Uniting follows the Australian Privacy Principles (APP) when providing information about its employees to third parties, noting that this approach is considered best practice for employers. Uniting is required under the Fair Work Act to provide employee information to a Fair Work Inspector and some government agencies have powers to request information from employers.

2. What is your personal information?

- 2.1. When used in this privacy policy, the term "personal information" has the meaning given to it in the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth). In general terms, it is any information that can be used to personally identify you. This may include your name, address, telephone number, email address and profession or occupation. If the information we collect personally identifies you, or you are reasonably identifiable from it, the information will be considered personal information.

2.2. Additionally, some of the personal information we may need to collect from you may include “sensitive information”, such as information about your health, racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, association memberships, religious affiliation, sexual orientation, criminal history, genetic or biometric information.

3. Service Users

3.1. What personal information do we collect and hold?

3.1.1. We will only collect personal and sensitive information that is necessary for us to carry out services and programs. The type of information we may collect, hold and use, varies depending on the purpose for which it is collected.

3.1.2. We may collect the following types of personal information:

- name;
- mailing and/or street address;
- email address;
- telephone number;
- facsimile number;
- age or birth date;
- profession, occupation or job title;
- details of the services that we have provided to you or which you have enquired about, together with any additional information necessary to deliver those services and respond to your enquiries;
- any additional information relating to you that you provide to us directly through our websites or indirectly through use of our websites or online presence, through our representatives or otherwise;
- information you provide to us through our activities and services, surveys or visits by our representatives from time to time;
- bank account details.

3.1.3. We may also collect some information that is not personal information because it does not identify you or anyone else. For example, we may collect anonymous answers to surveys or aggregated information about how users use our website.

3.1.4. We may also collect sensitive information about you (including health information) where it is reasonably necessary for one or more of our functions or activities.

3.1.5. For our consumers, i.e. service recipients, program participants or clients of our other services (as a recipient or participant) in one of our many services and programs (such as aged care, employment assistance, emergency relief, social or other services and programs), we may need to collect your name and contact details, information regarding your health, income status, religious affiliation, ethnicity, disability type (if any); family history, background and emergency contact details.

3.2. How do we collect personal information?

3.2.1. We collect your personal information directly from you unless it is unreasonable or impracticable to do so. When collecting personal information from you, we may collect it in a variety of ways including:

- through your access and use of our website;
 - during conversations and via correspondence between you and our representatives;
 - as part of access processes for services or programs;
 - when you complete an application or purchase order;
 - when you register for our conferences, events or courses and when you participate in our activities;
 - when you complete our forms for the provision of services;
 - when you complete a survey or make a donation.
- 3.2.2. We will take active measures to ensure the security of the personal information that we collect and hold, and will protect that information from misuse, interference and loss, and from unauthorised access, modification or disclosure.
- 3.2.3. We may also collect personal information from third parties including from entities, where this is something you ask us to do, assists us in delivering quality services and/or is in the best interests of service users.
- 3.2.4. When we collect personal information, we take reasonable steps to ensure that you are aware of certain matters relating to the collection of personal information, for example by providing a 'collection statement' at the time your personal information is collected. We may also require you to provide consent at the point of collection, if consent is required under the Privacy Act or other applicable laws.
- 3.2.5. When you provide us with personal information on behalf of other individuals, unless it is a protected disclosure, we rely upon you to:
- make them aware of this policy and any relevant collection statement;
 - make them aware that you have provided us with that information; and
 - obtain their consent or ensure that you are otherwise authorised to provide us with that information.
- 3.3. Anonymity
- 3.3.1. Where it is not required for programs and services, we will provide individuals with the option of not identifying themselves when contacting us, participating in activities or obtaining assistance from us. In such circumstances we will only obtain as much personal information as is necessary to provide you with the service or assistance you require.
- 3.4. Our website
- 3.4.1. In some cases, we may also collect your personal information through the use of 'cookies'. When you access our website, we may send a cookie (which is a small summary text file containing a unique ID number) to your computer. This enables us to recognise your computer and greet you each time you visit our website without bothering you with a request to register. It also enables us to keep track of services and products you view so that, if you consent, we can send you news about those services and products. If you do not wish to receive cookies, you can set your browser so that your computer does not accept them.

- 3.4.2. We also use third party vendors, including Google, to help manage our online advertising on other websites. To opt out of our third-party vendor's use of cookies please visit the Network Advertising Initiative opt out page¹ To opt out of Google's use of cookies, please visit the Google Opt Out page².
- 3.4.3. In some cases, we may use Google Analytics or log IP addresses for research or security purposes, but this does not involve the collection of personal information. The logging of IP addresses is not used for identifying users.
- 3.5. What happens if we can't collect your personal information?
- 3.5.1. If you do not provide us with the personal information described above, we may not be able to:
- provide the requested activities or services to you, either to the same standard or at all;
 - provide you with information about activities and services that you may want;
 - tailor the content of our websites to your preferences and your experience of our websites may not be as enjoyable or useful; or
 - contact you in relation to the various activities we undertake and services we provide.
- 3.6. For what purposes do we collect, hold, use and disclose your personal information?
- 3.6.1. We collect personal information about you so that we can perform our activities and functions and to provide best possible quality of service.
- 3.6.2. We collect, hold, use and disclose your personal information for the purpose for which it was provided to us, related purposes set out in this privacy policy and as permitted by law. Such purposes include:
- providing services to you and sending communications requested by you;
 - answering enquiries and providing information or advice about existing and new services;
 - accessing the performance of our website and improving the operation of our website;
 - conducting service processing functions, which may include providing personal information to our various organisations, contractors, service providers or other third parties;
 - updating your personal information held by our related bodies, contractors or service providers;
 - updating our records and keeping your contact details up to date;
 - establishing and maintaining your involvement with us;
 - answering your enquiries;
 - registering you for events, conferences, courses and activities;
 - direct promotion of services and keeping you informed of new developments we believe may be of interest to you. If we contact you in this way without obtaining your prior consent, we will provide you with the opportunity to decline any further promotional communications;

Where we hold information that you are entitled to access, we will try to provide you with suitable means of accessing it (for example, by mailing or emailing it to you). We may charge you a fee to cover our administrative and other reasonable costs (eg. photocopying, faxing, etc) in providing the information to you and, if so, we may charge a reasonable fee for providing access. We will not charge for simply making the request and will not charge for making any corrections to your personal information. Depending on the nature of the request, we may ask you to verify your identity or to put your request in writing.
- 7.2. To request access to your personal information, please contact our Privacy Officer using the contact details below. Requests for access should include:
- confirmation of your identity;
 - if the person requesting information is an authorised representative, proof that the person requesting access is lawfully authorised to do so (such as a copy of the Enduring Power of Attorney appointing the person as well as a copy of the person's drivers' licence or passport);
 - specific details of the information sought so that we can identify what personal information is being requested; and
 - the form in which the information is requested (for example, a copy of the information or a request to view the information contained in our records).
 - There may be instances where we cannot grant you access to the personal information we hold. For example, we may need to refuse access if granting access would interfere with the privacy of others or if it would result in a breach of confidentiality. If that happens, we will give you written reasons for any refusal.
- 7.3. If you believe that personal information we hold about you is incorrect, incomplete or inaccurate, then you may request us to amend it by contacting us via the contact details below. We will consider if the information requires amendment. If we do not agree that there are grounds for amendment, then we will add a note to the personal information stating that you disagree with it.

8. How we comply with the Notifiable Data Breaches Scheme

- 8.1. We will notify you in the event your personal information is involved in a data breach that is likely to result in serious harm. This notification will include recommendations about the steps you should take in response to the breach. We will also notify the Office of Australian Information

Commissioner of eligible data breaches. Each suspected data breach reported to us will be assessed to determine whether it is likely to result in serious harm, and as a result require notification.

9. What is the process for complaining about a breach of privacy?

- 9.1. If you believe that your privacy has been breached or you are not happy with the way your personal information has been handled by us, please contact our Privacy Officer using the contact information below and provide details of the incident (preferably in writing) so that we can investigate it.
- 9.2. We will attempt to confirm as appropriate with you your understanding of the conduct relevant to the complaint and what you expect as an outcome. We will inform you whether we will conduct an investigation, the name, title, and contact details of the investigating officer and the estimated completion date for the investigation process.
- 9.3. After we have completed our enquiries, we will contact you, usually in writing, to advise the outcome and invite a response to our conclusions about the complaint. If we receive a response from you, we will assess it and advise if we have changed our view. If you are unsatisfied with the outcome, we will advise you about further options including, if appropriate, review by the Privacy Commissioner within the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner.

10. Do we disclose your personal information to anyone outside Australia?

- 10.1. We may disclose personal information to our third-party customers, suppliers and service providers located overseas for some of the purposes listed above.
- 10.2. We take reasonable steps to ensure that the overseas recipients of your personal information do not breach the privacy obligations relating to your personal information.

11. Security

- 11.1. We take reasonable steps to ensure your personal information is protected from misuse and loss and from unauthorised access, modification or disclosure. We may hold your information in either electronic or hard copy form. Personal information is destroyed or de-identified when no longer needed.
- 11.2. Our websites use security encrypted response forms when personal and financial details are required. However, as our websites are linked to the internet, and the internet is inherently insecure, we cannot provide any assurance regarding the security of transmission of information you communicate to us online. We also cannot guarantee that the information you supply will not be intercepted while being transmitted over the internet. Accordingly, any personal information or other information which you transmit to us online is transmitted at your own risk.

12. Links

- 12.1. Our website may contain links to other websites operated by third parties. We make no representations or warranties in relation to the privacy practices of any third-party website and we are not responsible for the privacy policies or the content of any third-party website. Third party websites are responsible for informing you about their own privacy practices.

13. Contacting us

13.1. If you have any questions about this privacy policy, any concerns or a complaint regarding the treatment of your privacy or a possible breach of your privacy, please use the contact link on our website or contact our Privacy Officer using the details set out below.

13.2. We will treat your requests or complaints confidentially. Our representative will contact you within a reasonable time after receipt of your complaint to discuss your concerns and outline options regarding how they may be resolved. We will aim to ensure that your complaint is resolved in a timely and appropriate manner.

13.3. Please contact our Privacy Officer at:
